

The exact routine our band 8+ students follow on test day — from wake-up to the final writing check.

Night before

- Pack: passport/NID photocopy, two pens, pencils, eraser, water bottle, light snack.
- Re-read your last mock's error log for 10 minutes — nothing new before test day.
- Sleep by 11 PM; eight hours beats one more practice set, every time.

Test morning

- Reach the centre 45 minutes early; queues at Bangladesh centres are long.
- Eat a protein-heavy breakfast — the listening test starts before your stomach speaks.
- Phone + smartwatch go in the bag; keep only your ID in hand.
- Toilet break BEFORE the listening starts — you cannot pause the recording.

Timing plan per paper

Paper	Plan	Execute	Check
Listening	Read questions in the 30s preview of each part	Follow the audio, never freeze on one missed answer	10-minute transfer — check spelling + plurals
Reading	3 min: skim passages + map question locations	40 min: 18/20/22 min per passage, hard ones last	3 min: fill blanks, re-check TF/NG wording
Writing	5 min: outline both tasks, pick the overview	Task 1 by 20:00, Task 2 by 40:00 on the clock	5 min: word counts, capital letters, verb tenses

During the listening — golden rules

- Missed an answer? Mark a dash and move on instantly — the next question matters more.
- Answers above 20 in part 4 usually arrive after the speaker's signal words: 'however', 'in the end', 'what surprised us'.
- Plurals matter: the audio says 'three tickets', write 'tickets', never 'ticket'.

Final 5 minutes of writing — check in this order

Order	What to check	Why
1	Word counts (T1 ≥ 150, T2 ≥ 250)	Under-count caps Task Achievement at Band 6
2	Every sentence has a verb + correct tense	Run-ons and tense slips are the top band-killers
3	Introduction answers the actual question	Off-topic intros collapse Task Response
4	Capital letters, commas, full stops	Presentation errors read as carelessness

After the mock: log your raw scores in the portal the same evening while memory is fresh. Note WHY each mark was lost — vocabulary, grammar, spelling, or timing. The pattern across three mocks tells you exactly what to study next.
